

Sophie Godier, Chief Sustainability Officer elected to the board of the SAI Platform

Paris, France – July 1, 2026 – Soufflet Malt, the world's number one maltster, is pleased to announce that Sophie Godier, its Chief Sustainability Officer, has been elected to the Board of the Sustainable Agriculture Initiative (SAI) Platform. This election reflects InVivo Group's active membership and long-term engagement within the SAI Platform.

The appointment recognises Sophie's work to advance sustainable agriculture across the food, beverage and agriculture value chain. A grain industry engineer, farm owner and long-time advocate for sustainable farming, she brings more than 20 years of experience in sustainability and quality management.

As Chief Sustainability Officer, Sophie leads Soufflet Malt's global sustainability strategy and contributes more broadly to the InVivo Group's sustainable and resilient agriculture roadmap through the Sowing Good Sense Program. She works closely with agronomic teams and customers across 20 countries to advance regenerative agriculture, sustainable sourcing and climate-smart farming practices.

She also drives the company's Scope 3 emissions ambitions, supports the launch of new low-carbon products, advances field-to-taste traceability solutions and works with commercial teams to embed quality and sustainability into adjacent food business initiatives.

Soufflet Malt CEO Jorge Solis said the appointment reflects Sophie's leadership and hands-on understanding of the agriculture sector.

"Sophie has dedicated her career to building stronger connections between farmers, agronomists customers, and the wider food and beverage system. Her appointment is a well-deserved recognition of her expertise, passion and ability. We are proud to see her contributing her experience at this level and helping advance sustainable agriculture globally."

SAI Platform brings together organisations from across the food and agriculture value chain to make sustainable agriculture more practical, collaborative and scalable. InVivo Group, of which Soufflet Malt is part, is a member of SAI Platform and actively contributes to its sustainable agriculture work and Regenerating Together Program, through multidisciplinary teams.

Sophie joins a newly elected executive board comprising senior leaders from some of the world's leading food and agriculture companies, including PepsiCo, Danone, Nestlé, ADM, Ingredion, Mondelez and McCain Foods.

The committee provides strategic direction to the organisation and supports work to accelerate the adoption of sustainable agricultural practices worldwide.

"Being elected to the SAI Board is a tremendous honour," said Sophie. "Agriculture is facing challenges that no single organisation can solve alone. I look forward to working with my fellow committee members to help drive practical solutions that support farmers and strengthen the long-term resilience of our food systems."

Sophie's appointment strengthens Soufflet Malt's and InVivo Group's contribution to the global sustainability conversation. It reflects the Group's ambition to act as an innovative and committed player in sustainable agriculture, while supporting more resilient, responsible and regenerative agricultural value chains.

About Soufflet Malt

Soufflet Malt is the world's leading maltster, with 40 malting plants across 20 countries in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America. Employing more than 2,300 employees, Soufflet Malt has a production capacity of 3.7 million tonnes of malt annually to meet the demands of its customers – large, global breweries and artisan craft brewers, distillers and other industrial players – around the world. Building on its local farming roots and global reach, including distribution through Country Malt Group in North America and Cryer Malt in Asia, Soufflet Malt acts as a trusted supplier of quality malt, serving customers through brands such as Canada Malting, Great Western Malting, Durst Malz, Bairds Malt, Castle Malting, Tchecomalt, Barrett Burston. With a commitment to pioneer sustainable malt solutions, Soufflet Malt remains steadily focused on innovation across its entire value chain.

Our vision: Unleash the power of malt.

For more information: souffletmalt.com

About InVivo Group

InVivo Group is one of Europe's leading agricultural groups, with revenue of €11.4 billion, more than half of which is generated in France, and a workforce of 15,000 employees, including 10,000 in France. Present in 38 countries, it operates 90 industrial sites, 54 of which are in France. As a pillar of food sovereignty, InVivo is active across the entire value chain, from farm to fork, and is a leader in each of its four major strategic activities: international grain trading; agriculture; agri-food (malt, wheat division, wine); gardening and food retail. A global transversal hub of innovative and digital solutions complements the system to accelerate the transformation of these activities toward the third agricultural revolution. Through Sowing Good Sense, InVivo Group brings together its sustainable agricultural value chain initiatives and supports the development of more resilient and value-creating supply chains.

For more information: invivo-group.com – @InVivoGroup

Press contacts:

Soufflet Malt: Brunswick Group | souffletmalt@brunswickgroup.com

Benoit Grange | +33 6 14 45 09 26

Tristan Roquet Montegon | +33 6 37 00 52 57